Wounded Warrior Project-Soldier Ride

MIAMI BEACH, January 11, 2012 – Tomorrow (January 12, 2012), the Soldier Ride: a Wounded Warrior initiative that helps wounded soldiers restore their physical and emotional well-being will be coming through the City of Miami Beach. The route will begin at Finnegan's Way (1344 Ocean Drive) and will go south on Ocean Drive on to South Pointe Elementary School (1050 4th Street). The students of South Pointe Elementary will be waiting to greet these dedicated individuals that have given so much to our country. The route will then continue towards West Avenue down the Venetian Causeway ending at the Veterans hospital in the City of Miami.

The Wounded Warrior Project is a program that not only provides rehabilitative opportunities for soldiers that have been severely wounded in combat but also raises public awareness. We hope that our community and our local media partners will come out and support these young men and women that have sacrificed so much in serving our country. The ride starts at 10 a.m.
